ABOUT THE ATLAS

The 'European Youthwork Atlas' is an outcome of an 8-day international seminar titled 'PHOTOsynthesis: (re)connection' for youthworkers hosted in Poronin in Poland in October 2025.

42 persons from 10 European countries, enormous diversity of background, experience and expertise, interests and one common goal - to provide high-quality educational opportunities for young people.

You are welcome to explore Atlas and get inspired by youth workers, youth leaders and local activists who contributed to PHOTOsynthesis seminar and they are ready to support your local or international projects.

I am a 19 year old social servant from Austria, currently working at Brigada Do Mar in Portugal. At Brigada Do Mar, we organize different projects and activities with different communities, schools, companies, etc. Brigada Do Mar is on a mission to protect and clean the portuguese coastline. I am happy to be able to help the Organisation achieving this, by supporting to organize and host activities, exchange ideas with other organisations and being a member of the team. I especially enjoy working with our various international partners.

I am quite good at organizing groups during activities, which is important for the work I'm doing at the moment. Also, I can adapt very fast to new environments and challenges, both in work and social life.

A photography student at Plovdiv's art academy. I have participated various photography courses and workshops. I have graduated a tourism high school in 2019 and since then I've gathered an experience with many different types of jobs, such as: bank teller at the Bulgarian national bank, book seller, greeter at the drama theatre etc.

I specialise myself in working with people in different photographic environments.

With a bit of directing the subject and creating a light setup, I aim on creating unique portrait of the model in front of my lens and narrating his or hers story.

My profession is related to photography and videography. I graduated from high school with a degree in «Electrical Engineering and Electronics». I became interested in photography at the age of 13. So far, I have 8 years of experience in the field of photography and I have been involved in videography for 5 years. I love challenges and photograph everything from weddings and baptisms to funerals.

Communicative skills, quick adaptation, positive thinking, tolerance, empathy, skills to overcome conflict situations. I have the skills to work in a team - organizing and distributing functions and responsibilities arising from the nature of the assigned tasks on the projects.

I have been involved in quite a few youth exchanges since high school. I studied youth work at university and have stuck to my chosen profession since graduating. It is a lifestyle to help young people grow and develop and cope with all their problems.

I have been involved in international youth work more as a participant or «partner organization» than as a project manager. Today, the first international projects have been implemented as a project manager and I am ready for new exciting challenges.

Quick response to unexpected situations, self-confidence, concreteness and directness, ability to see the big picture as well as the small details. Quite a good ability to analyze everyone around me.

I am a Youth Welfare Specialist, Restorative Justice mediator, DIY creator, and Graphic design enthusiast. I hold a Degree in Product Design and have experience in international design projects and marketing. In 2021, I shifted to youth work to do something more meaningful and give back to my community. Since high school, I have been an activist in Youth Councils and participated in several Erasmus projects across Europe. I currently work with socially inactive youngsters as part of the Estonian NGTsteam, implementing NEET youth work. I like to view the world from different angles and explore all shades between black and white. I stand for fairness and equality and can be direct, but once you get to know me, you may discover unexpected things.

My experiences from different areas give me a variety of skills, whether it's flipping houses or hosting workshops. Make contact, distract, make them feel safe, feed their self-confidence, and discover their passions - they'll share their life story. Treat people with the respect they deserve. Don't judge a fish by its ability to fly, or it will think it's worthless. Everyone has their own strengths; find them, and you might find an ally to conquer the world. People involved are often the ones most capable of solving the situation. Sometimes you get too detail-focused, so zoom out and share - the big picture may hold the answer.

I am a youth worker, mentor, and social care practitioner from Räpina, Estonia. I hold a degree in Tourism and Hospitality Management and have also studied Social Work and Rehabilitation. I have over 15 years of experience in the tourism sector, including roles as an administrator, service manager, and catering manager. Alongside youth work, through NGO Rahumäe Sinilinnud I support people with disabilities in their daily lives and organise activities that promote mental and physical wellbeing. I actively participate in international mobility projects and mentor trainings to develop inclusive and creative youth work practices.

I integrate creative, nature-based and therapeutic approaches in inclusive youth and social work. My best practice combines mobile workshops and wellbeing activities that promote empowerment, participation, and resilience among youth and people with disabilities.

#photography #cooking #handcrafting #travel #books

I have graduated from Tartu university of Pärnu college and studied entrepreneurship and project management.

I am working as a youth worker from 2020 October and as a project manager from 2025 February. I am working at Jõgeva aleviku youth centre which is located in my birth village and where I first got into the youth work as a youngster myself.

As a youngster I was really active and took part in many projects and that's how I got into youth work later in life too. I found an interest in projects which is why I chose my specialty in this too.

I love to be creative and offer youngsters different non-formal learning activities that are also beneficial in real life.

I am also a mobile youth worker who does the work from the laptop. All the designs and social media is done by me. Additionally I am at the events too, mostly in the summer when we have bigger occasion, like openings, National

I tend to be very organized but flexible because in the youth work you never know with who or what situations you are in. I am very friendly and calm which are very important in my work. I also listen to youngsters a lot, try to support them with everything and encourage them to be more active (e.g organize events that they are interested in). Best practice is to encourage and help youth to actively find solutions for problems, organizing the events and be more courageous.

My name is Shriragav Srinivasan, and I'm originally from India. I am currently pursuing my master's degree in Germany. I have always been passionate about working with young people and contributing to community development. Becoming a youth worker in Germany has been something I've wanted to explore, but I wasn't sure how to begin. Recently, a friend introduced me to the Photosynthesis project from his NGO, CGE Erfurt, and it truly inspired me to take my first step in this field. I'm very excited and eager to start my journey as a youth worker, to learn from others, share my experiences, and make a positive impact in society.

During this journey, I discovered many hidden talents within myself, such as photography, dancing, and playing different musical instruments. I also developed my presentation and communication skills, which helped me connect better with others. One of the most rewarding experiences was sharing and learning about the diverse cultures of participants from different countries — it was truly inspiring and enriching.

I am a photographer, biologist, and photography teacher with over 15 years of experience in social and environmental reportage. My work documents communities, identities, and the relationship between people and nature, blending portraiture, participatory projects, and long-term visual storytelling. Trained at the Scuola Romana di Fotografia e Cinema, I have led workshops for eight years, integrating biology with the visual arts. Exhibited in Italy and abroad, my projects aim to preserve local identities and give voice to underrepresented realities.

I have developed strong listening and empathy skills, with the ability to manage challenging situations. Teaching photography in fragile social contexts, I create safe spaces where participants feel heard, supported, and empowered to tell their own stories.

I have experience as a creator/designer and trainer of international projects focused on local heritage and identity, presented through various art forms. I have coordinated projects and designed international and local workshops for children, youth, and adults. I adapt my methods to different contexts and age groups, preparing workshops with care and intention, so learning goes beyond skills and opens space for reflection and new ways of seeing.

My practice is based on attentive facilitation, clear communication and adaptability. I work well with diverse, large groups, support individual needs, and stay effective in changing or high-stress conditions. I am a photographer and graphic designer actively engaged in socio-cultural projects in collaboration with local cultural centers such as Stăția Teatru Muzical, Cinema Arta and Education Studio. In 2024, I took part in the international Erasmus+ Invisible Cities project in Cluj-Napoca, where I collaborated with participants from across Europe to create articles and filmed interviews about Ukrainian refugees, in partnership with the NGO World Vision. In 2025, together with two collaborators, I co-founded Vizibil, an association dedicated to supporting visual artists from vulnerable groups. Their first project presented an exhibition of works by artists living with schizophrenia, aiming to promote and make them visible.

Some of my key strengths as a photographer include a strong sense of observation, an eye for detail, and the ability to work with people from diverse backgrounds while conveying the stories and emotions I discover through my work.

My name is Larissa, I am 21 years old and currently studying Business Administration in Bucharest, having relocated from Brașov. I have volunteering experience at Hospice Casa Sperantei in Brașov, where I developed empathy, communication, and organizational skills. I am passionate about personal development and a healthy lifestyle, which I pursue through regular gym workouts, reading, and creating aesthetically balanced healthy meals.

I believe that my unique skills shape both my personality and my approach to work and learning. My key strength is patience, which helps me stay calm, focused, and consistent while delivering thoughtful, high-quality results. This is closely connected to my attention to detail and commitment to accuracy and harmony. Empathy is another important part of who I am. I enjoy connecting with people, understanding their perspectives, and building trust through kindness and respect, developed through school and social experiences. I also have a strong sense of aesthetics, allowing me to find beauty in simple things and express creativity in everyday life, particularly through visual details and food presentation. Overall, I am a patient, empathetic, and detail-oriented person with a creative mindset, guided by authenticity, emotional intelligence, and balance.
